

MORE THAN 200 MILLION

GIRLS
&
WOMEN

ALIVE
TODAY

HAVE UNDERGONE FGM
#EndFGM

A Call to Act to End FGM

We call on each of the UK governments to develop, implement, monitor and evaluate a National FGM Action Plan, with the goal of ending FGM in the UK by 2030.

This plan will include:

- providing accessible specialist health and psychological care and support services in community settings for FGM survivors of all age groups
- a commitment by all government agencies to end FGM, support survivors and share information to keep women and girls safe
- a commitment by all governments to run evidence-based public awareness campaigns, in partnership with survivors to change hearts and minds, through education for young people and dialogue with families and influential leaders in practising communities
- education and training for the children's workforce in their role and responsibilities for safeguarding girls and young women

#EndFGM

Royal College of Obstetricians &
Gynaecologists

WOVEN ink

Royal College of General Practitioners

